“MOODS OF THE BAY” PHOTOGRAPHIC EXHIBITION OPENS THIS FRIDAY APRIL 24

April 22, 2009

“Moods of the Bay”, an exhibition of Ralphs Bay photographic images, will be opened by Senator Bob Brown on Friday.

The exhibition is being held at The Salamanca Collection Gallery from 10am this Friday April 24 until 5pm on Sunday.

The exhibition features the work of Hobart photographers, David Jamrozik, Wolfgang Glowacki and Ian Jeanneret. These three photographers were motivated to stage the exhibition by their love of Ralphs Bay and its many moods, of the bird life that abounds and the deep sense of place the bay gives. They share the concern that all this could be lost as the result of an inappropriate development.

“If I can capture and hold some of the magical beauty of Ralphs Bay in my images perhaps I can re-awaken in some people a desire to live in harmony with this environment - to observe and understand it,” says David Jamrozik.

Wolfgang Glowacki has a love of special places such as Ralphs Bay and would hate to see it destroyed.

Ian Jeanneret says, “I just love this natural world we live in. My photographs are simply reproductions of the beauty to be seen around us every day and I have a great desire to share it through my work.”
